NEW MEMBER: PCSO Rahul Agravat outside Haverhill police station

New PCSO joins police station team

A NEW PCSO has joined the Safer Neighbourhood Team
at Haverhill police station.

Rahul Agravat, 23, is originally from Leicester but moved to Suffolk specially to pursue PCSO training.

He said: "I always wanted to be a PC and I thought it was a good entry route.

They say the best PCs are from PCSOs."

PCSO Agravat completed training at Suffolk Police's headquarters in Martlesham before starting at Haverhill police station. He is now being trained at the station and will then be assigned a specific role on the team.

He is the first new PCSO to join Haverhill's team after recruitment was reopened when the government announced cuts smaller than expected last December.

CHARITY

Group in bloom for new season

A CHARITY which keeps Haverhill's streets looking attractive has been saved from closure by new volunteers.

Haverhill in Bloom announced a month ago that it was facing closure if it could not find new committee members.

The group spends thousands of pounds a year on replacing and watering the flowers in planters on Haverhill High Street, Market Square, and the roundabout outside the town's Tesco.

Other recent projects include revamping the churchyard outside St Mary's in the Market Square.

But with just four committee members, the group has struggled.

At a meeting called to discuss possible closure of the group on Tuesday night,
chairman Ben Pumfrey said:

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

"We have lost members for various reason and the time has come where we cannot simply carry on in the same guise."

He said they particularly needed committee members to help with organising projects and applying for grant funding, not just practical help with gardening.

But at Tuesday's meeting,
five new volunteers arrived, including town mayor David Roach.

All of them said they were willing to consider taking up a role on the committee, and a meeting to appoint new committee members has been scheduled for January.

Mr Pumfrey said after the meeting: "It's very positive.

There is a future. It's all about getting a good vibe from people."

At the meeting, he proposed projects Haverhill in Bloom could pursue with more members.

These include resurrecting
the car boot sales the group used to organise on Haverhill's Recreation Ground in Camps Road, and rebranding the group with input from local schoolchildren.

Although the volunteers who turned up to Tuesday's meeting are enough to rescue the group, they are still keen for more volunteers.

To get involved, you can turn up at the meeting on Thursday, January 12, at 6pm at East Town Park.

Alternatively, contact
Valerie Morton at havinbloom@gmail.com or on (01440) 709099.

BLAZE: The scene at the Atterton and Ellis site in Hamlet Road on Sunday night

Arsonists start serious blaze

TARA COX and
HANNAH MIRSKY

POLICE are appealing for help after arsonists set fire to a landmark building in Haverhill on Sunday night.

The fire started in the derelict ironworks building of Atterton and Ellis in Hamlet Road just after 7pm.

Town councillor Jason Crooks, who witnessed the blaze, said the most historic part of the complex, a listed 1820 silk mill, had not been touched by the blaze.

But he added: "It's still a great shame the way it's deteriorated over the years, as well as in the fire."

Suffolk Fire Control received numerous calls to the fire at 8.38pm and initially sent two fire engines, one from Haverhill and one from Clare.

But when the firefighters arrived the blaze was so severe they asked for assistance and a further four fire engines and the aerial appliance were sent from Linton, Bury, Ixworth and Essex.

When the firefighters arrived the first floor and roof space were well alight.

Four hose reel jets were used to tackle the blaze, and police were asked to close Hamlet Road.

The blaze was put out by 11pm. A fire investigator attended the scene of the fire on Monday.

Police say they are treating the incident as arson and while they did not have any CCTV footage of the blaze, they are following up numerous lines of enquiry.

The Atterton and Ellis site has been empty for over a decade. Planning permission was granted in 2010 for a development of 39 homes on the site, but these were never built and the planning permission has now lapsed.

The owners of the building, the Bernhard Group, declined to comment about the blaze.

Anyone who saw anything suspicious in the area on Sunday night is asked to contact Suffolk Police on 101.

Purse snatched from pensioner's bag

A 73-YEAR-OLD woman had a purse containing £120 in cash stolen from her handbag last week.

The purse, which also contained credit and debit cards, a driving licence and a bus pass, was taken while the victim was shopping in Haverhill town centre last Monday, November 14.

If you saw anything suspicious call police on 101.

Wheelie bins set alight

FIRES were started in two metals dustbins in a Haverhill car park at around 9.30pm on Saturday night.

Police believe the wheelie bins, which contained cardboard, were deliberately set on fire.

The bins were in the Helions Service Road car park behind Clinton Cards.

Police are not currently linking this incident to the Hamlet Road arson.

If you have information call 101.

Tools stolen in raid

BURGLARS used an angle-grinder to cut through metal shutters when they broke into a business premises on Sunday night.

The alarm at the Hollands Road premises of E R Supplies was set off at 8.30pm, after the burglars had taken a padlocked gate off its hinges and moved the CCTV camera as well as cut the shutters. Tools worth more than £1,000 were taken. Call 101.

New jeweller's to open in town

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A NEW jeweller's is set to open within weeks on the site of a jewellery shop that had traded in Haverhill for nearly 30 years.

Hanningtons at 24 High Street shut down in the summer.

Owner Pat Hunnisett was retiring and said that the footfall in the town centre made the business hard to sustain.

The independent jewellery shop had been trading in Haverhill for nearly 30 years, 20 of those at the High Street premises.

But after the closure of the High Street stalwart, a new jeweller's is set to open in the same premises.

Simpkins Jeweller's is a family-run business that already operates two shops in Witham and Colchester.

Aron Woodward, manager of the new shop in Haverhill, said it was simply co-incidence that when Simpkins decided to expand to Haverhill, it chose a shop that had already been a jeweller's for 20 years.

The Simpkins shop does not have a precise opening date yet, but Mr Woodward said it would be open later this month or early next.

Simpkins will offer many of the same services as Hanningtons, selling gifts in gold and silver, as well as offering repairs, batteries and more.

Mr Woodward continued: "It's something positive for the town I think."

"Hanningtons was a long-standing business and it's nice to have something like that back."

He was formerly a manager at Hanningtons and says that another former member of Hanningtons staff has been hired.

Two new part-time roles have also been created, and Mr Woodward is encouraging those interested in the jobs to get in touch.

Residents have responded positively on Facebook to the news about Simpkins.

One posted: "Thank goodness for that." Another wrote: "So glad to hear that."

The news comes after it emerged last week that another empty shop front in Haverhill High Street is set to become the town's fourth funeral parlour.

The East of England Co-Op funeral home is set to open in what was formerly a tattoo parlour before the end of the year.

If you are interested in one of the part-time roles being created at Simpkins, you can contact Mr Woodward by calling (01440) 709799.

Children go wild for animal charity

A DISPLAY created by primary school children has been up all week in Haverhill High Street.

Year One and Two pupils at New Cangle Primary School created the display as part of the work they are doing on the value both pets and wild animals have in their local area and homes.

It went up on Friday at the Wood Green shop in the High Street, and pupils visited the shop dressed as animals.

They collected money for Wood Green, The Animals Charity, which runs an animal shelter in Cambridgeshire, and met Mayor of Haverhill, David Roach.

Today is the last day the display will be in the charity shop window.

COUNCIL

Autism support service to close

RESIDENTS are angry at the "devastating" planned closure of an autism support service.

Autism Suffolk, which provides support to autistic people and their families across the county, is set to close in March.

The closure will mean that the Haverhill Autism Support Group, where parents of autistic children meet and offer support to each other as well as listen to visiting speakers, will also have to close.

Autism Suffolk books the rooms and arranges the visiting speakers for the group.

The support group chairman, town councillor Pat Hanlon, said: "There are going to be a lot of tears. They are going to be absolutely shocked. It gives people who have got autism, who have got autistic children, someone to talk to about it. They will be absolutely devastated."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

Autism Suffolk is run by the National Autistic Society. Tom Purser, a spokesperson for the society, said it had seen its funding from Suffolk County Council reduced annually over the last three years. He said despite fundraising, applying for grants and downsizing, the service was not able to keep running without continued core funding.

He continued: "We understand how disappointing this is for many local children and families and are closing gradually, so we can minimise the impact. We're also making every effort to ensure families can access other forms of local support and the charity's local branches and Helpline. We'll also be able to keep open the social media support group, thanks to a volunteer."

County councillor Tony Goldson said as a result of talks over the last three years, Autism Suffolk had understood it would face budget cuts.

He continued: "We have offered time and support to assist them in finding other potential funding streams to continue their work. That offer remains. It is their decision to close at this point, the council has not instructed them to do so and we would welcome further discussion to see if we can help them going forward."

A petition has been started to try to stop the closure.

Awards mark success of young apprentices

CELEBRATING SUCCESS: Chairman and vice-chairman of ONE Haverhill partnership John Mayhew and Henry Wilson. Below, guests at the apprenticeship awards

MORE than 60 apprentices, employers and local dignitaries attended an awards ceremony on Friday.

The second ONE Haverhill Apprenticeship Awards celebrated the achievements of the town's young workforce and employers.

The awards were launched in 2016 after the success of ONE Haverhill's apprenticeships scheme – which has seen 175 apprenticeships advertised in the space of three years.

On Friday night, Charlotte King, 17, who works for tax credit company Fiscale, was named Apprentice of the Year.

Stepping Stones Pre-School was Employer of the Year.

An apprentice at the pre-school, Keeley Skipp, won the Overcoming Adversity award after battling serious illness.

Seb Rosa, of computer repair company mendmyi, picked up the Apprentice Champion award, and Tanya Wernham, of Sturmer Nurseries garden centre, won the Highly Commended award.

Tanya, who was also runner-up in the Overcoming Adversity award, said: "I'm really delighted to win my awards; the apprenticeship has been good for me in many ways. It's given me more confidence in myself and has given me the qualifications that will help me in my job and future."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The event was held at the Rookwood Way premises of drug manufacturer Sanofi, the awards sponsor. Prizes were donated by West Suffolk College.

Chairman of ONE Haverhill John Mayhew said: "The apprenticeship awards are a great way to mark the achievements of individuals and employers who have contributed so much to the local economy."

He said that ONE Haverhill was continuing to promote opportunities for young people through its youth skills manager Karen Chapple.

Guest of honour MP Matthew Hancock said: "Each and every nomination is clearly bringing a great deal to strengthen the Haverhill economy and I applaud both apprentices and their employers for all their fantastic work."

To find out more about youth employment opportunities, call or text Karen on 07877 142000.

WINNERS: Sally Shadbolt, left, and Sharlene Van Tonder, right, with Care UK managing director Andrew Knight

Care home wins dementia award

A CARE home in Haverhill has won an award for outstanding dementia care.

Cleves Place care home in the town's Millfields Way was chosen from more than 100 homes at Care UK's national Residential Care Services Stars awards.

The judges praised the team for dementia care that led to enhanced wellbeing for residents.

One example was working with chefs to create a snackbox for a resident who would not sit down for a whole meal.

The award was presented to staff from the home on Thursday.

Home manager Sally Shadbolt said: "This award is testament to the expertise of the team and the caring environment we have created here at Cleves Place."

POLITICS

Back to start on devolution

COUNCILLORS have made a public commitment to devolution – but the deal they had planned is unlikely to go ahead.

On Monday night, St Edmundsbury Borough Council discussed proposals for a devolution deal for Norfolk and Suffolk.

The proposals would have seen a new directly elected mayor heading an authority made up of representatives from 12 councils across the two counties.

The mayor would have had control of a funding pot including £100 million ring-fenced for housing, and £25 million a year for 30 years. The total funding over the period would have been £1 billion.

But all 12 councils needed to agree on the plan for it to go ahead. On Thursday, November 17, King's Lynn and West Norfolk Borough Council voted against being included in the plan.

This means that the Gov-

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

ernment is unlikely to let the devolution plan go ahead.

On Monday night, St Edmundsbury's full council voted to reiterate its commitment to devolution.

It also voted in favour of authorising the leader and chief executive to seek an urgent meeting with the Secretary of State and to work with central government and local partners to agree a new devolution deal.

There was an overwhelming majority in favour of these proposals, with only one councillor abstaining and none of them voting against.

It is not known how long it could take to put together a fresh devolution deal. The proposals on the table on Monday took two years to develop.

Leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council John Griffiths said: "I admit that I am very disappointed and rather amazed that the decision of some Norfolk councils means this is no longer likely to happen and we will be turning away the £1 billion for jobs, homes and transport."

But some councillors saw the Norfolk council's rejection of the deal as an opportunity to negotiate a better one. Cllrs Tony Brown and Diane Hind expressed concerns about the extent of mayoral powers under the current proposals.

It is not known whether a Suffolk-only deal or a partnership with some local authorities outside the county will now be sought.

Reports will be made back to St Edmundsbury as the process goes forward.

BOWYER

Richard (Dick)

of Haverhill
Passed away peacefully at The Meadows Nursing Home on Saturday 5th November 2016, aged 93 years.

Dearly loved husband of the late Joyce, loving dad of Heather & Tony and David & Lynn and a grandfather and great-grandfather.

CAMPAIGN

Plan to lobby for road funding

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

CAMPAIGNERS trying to get the A1307 turned into a dual carriageway plan to lobby for funding after the Government announced it would pour £23 billion into infrastructure.

The Haverhill Chamber of Commerce's campaign group had been waiting for Chancellor Philip Hammond's Autumn Statement yesterday to decide how to push the project forward.

Mr Hammond announced the creation of a £23 billion "National Productivity Investment Fund", which will be invested in infrastructure.

Chairman of the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce Paul Donno said: "I would like to think that we could lobby hard enough to get some of that money invested in the road."

The group has already held meetings with the Government and has the backing of West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock.

It is now set to meet on December 16 to formally discuss its response to the Autumn Statement.

Mr Donno has branded the road "not fit for purpose" after a man died in a crash on the A1307 last Monday.

But Haverhill town, borough and county councillor John Burns said a strategic solution was needed to tackle the problems on the road.

"All a dual carriageway does is double capacity on the road," he said. "We do not have the amount of traffic along that road that everyone thinks there is."

He said that public transport solutions such as improved bus services, light rail and a train service along the A1307 needed to be considered.

He said: "We are trying to get all the councils and the parish councils between us and the A11 interested. The parish councils don't want a dual carriageway either."

TECHNOLOGY

Phone company to install 4G

MOBILE phone users in a village near Haverhill could experience intermittent signal as work is done to bring 4G connectivity to the area.

The work is being done by mobile network O2 in Castle Camps, starting on Monday, December 5.

It will mean faster connections for O2 customers in the long run, but could mean intermittent service until work is completed.

The network advises downloading its TUGo app, which allows users to make and receive calls using their mobile number through any wifi-connected device.

Derek McManus, chief operating officer at Telefónica UK said: "O2 customers in Castle Camps will soon be able to experience faster mobile internet on their devices such as streaming high definition TV, shopping on the go, and video calling. For our business customers, 4G is all about working more effectively. They can work remotely, access cloud services, collaborate using apps and so on. 4G will make everything easier for them."

CHILDREN IN NEED

PENNIES FOR PUDSEY: Pupils raising money for the cause at Westfield Primary Academy

More than £3,000 raised for charity

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

HAVERHILL students raised more than £3,000 for Children in Need on Friday with a host of events.

Some of the most dedicated fundraisers were a group of 12 Year Eight students at Samuel Ward Academy who raised £1,300 by climbing Scafell Pike, the tallest mountain in England. The hikers, accompanied by 12 members of staff, completed the climb in September.

Organiser Wendy Jeffery said: "The students all did amazing. Some students had never slept in a tent or walked in such terrain – all of them were very much out of their comfort zone."

The £1,300 will be combined with cash raised on Friday with a non-uniform day, a sponsored silence, bake sale and face painting. The school is hoping its total will reach £2,000.

SEEING SPOTS: Students fundraising at Samuel Ward Academy for Children in Need

Castle Manor Academy raised more than £420 with a spotty-themed, non-uniform day.

Westfield Primary Academy managed an impressive £579 by combining a non-uniform day with activities including a colouring competition.

At Coupals Primary Academy, students learned about how money raised for Children in Need is used, and raised a total of £270 by wearing their own spotty clothes.

A non-uniform day at

Place Farm Primary Academy raised £265.

At Burton End Primary Academy and St Felix Roman Catholic Primary School, students wore a spotty item with their school uniform. The schools raised around £200 and £150 respectively.

Manchett's forges ahead with MAN

MAN Truck & Bus UK has announced it is joining forces with Newmarket-based Manchett's as a service partner.

The family-run car, truck and van centre is the perfect partner for MAN, offering excellent service and widening MAN's network in the Cambridge and Newmarket area.

Rob Zubovic, MAN's head of network development, has welcomed the deal with the thriving business.

He said: "As our new service partner Manchett's in Newmarket provides a strong strategic fit in support of our commitment to further developing our network coverage in terms of customer support.

"Manchett's is a family-run business and since it was established in 1961 it has built a very strong reputation for delivering quality service to customers.

"In addition to providing excellent support, MAN believes the partnership will also provide a strong presence for our sales growth over the next three to five years."

Robert Manchett, the dealer principal, added: "We recognised the need for an MAN presence in the area to support local demand and are very much looking forward to the new opportunities this agreement will provide.

"Established within motor vehicle sales and repair since 1961 and now spanning four generations, adding MAN to the company profile of expertise and service was an obvious move.

"We are confident of our ability to offer and deliver a premium customer service and we feel we can grow our business working with the MAN brand.

"The dealership will be based

CRIME

Bungling gang breaks into zoo

RAYMOND BROWN
@RaymondBrownCN

A POLICE sniffer dog was called in to help when raiders broke into Linton Zoo.

The bungling gang of four broke into the zoo, which boasts animals including an African lion, Amur tiger and a snow leopard, but triggered an alarm.

The Hadstock Road zoo has stringent security measures and the gang was forced to flee empty-handed in what police believe was a silver saloon-type vehicle.

The incident happened on November 14 at 12.25am.

Police said: "Four males gained access to the zoo from a neighbouring field by cutting a hole in the wire fencing of the perimeter.

"They set off an alarm sensor and this alerted a person living on site. The males then exited the site through the metal fencing. A silver saloon-type vehicle was seen."

Kim Simmonds, owner

and director of the zoo which is currently on its winter timetable and open weekends and school holidays, said the zoo was very secure.

She said: "It was just in the early hours of the morning when they cut the perimeter fence but they were intercepted very quickly. It wasn't anywhere near any animal enclosures.

"They were probably just having a snout about for tools. The police were fantastic and responded very quickly and brought in a tracker dog.

"The zoo is very secure so they were really silly to try to break in."

A police spokeswoman added: "Nothing was stolen and no animals were harmed."

Anyone with information should call Cambridgeshire police on 101.

New digital sign would cost £25k

HAVERHILL Town Council is considering installing a £25,000 state-of-the-art digital advertising sign outside the town's arts centre.

The sign, which town clerk Colin Poole says would pay for itself through commercial advertising, would replace the "rocket" that is currently used to display posters outside the building.

At a meeting on Tuesday night, councillors agreed to approve a budget of £25,000 for the sign.

They asked a working group, set up to examine the arts centre budget, take responsibility for how to deliver the sign and see if any grant funding is available.

A final decision will then be made on the proposal.

Mr Poole said that he had met a representative from the company that supplies the signs, Digital Media.

He said that local authorities in Cardiff, Glasgow, Hastings and the London Borough of Bexley had all installed the signs.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

He added that Hastings Council got its money back within nine months, while the average time was three years.

The council had previously looked into digital advertising, but without considering the advertising model for funding.

Mayor of Haverhill David Roach said: "Where before it was a question of 'How do we afford to do this?', now it's a question of 'How do we afford not to do it?'. If you pay for it, it becomes something that benefits us and companies in the town."

Advertising would be sold in slots throughout the day, and the sign would also be used to advertise shows at the arts centre.

Councillors discussed using it to signpost the arts centre's bistro area at lunchtime.

Mr Poole said that the signs were vandal-proof and weather-proof.

He said the only time one had been damaged was when a lorry drove into it, which pulled up its foundations but did not damage the glass.

He continued: "In terms of vandal-proofness, [Digital Media] tested it themselves and they almost gave themselves a hernia trying."

"The manufacturers of the glass swing a 94 pound ball at it and it just bounces off. They are extremely robust."

He said that installing the sign, which is around six feet tall but much slimmer than the current "rocket", would "open up the space" in front of the arts centre.

Latest news and events from

ON STAGE: Haverhill Centre Stage's Vicar of Dibley performance The Second Coming

■ Friday, November 25 – Sunday, December 4.

■ No, no, no, no, no, no. Yes! It is the return of the Vicar of Dibley and her eccentric parishioners for The Second Coming. It's Christmas time in Dibley, are Hugo and Alice ensconced in marital bliss? What horrendous heights can Mrs Cropley's seasonal recipes reach? Will the RSPCA ever catch up with Owen Newitt? Find out the answers to these burning issues and more besides. You can join Haverhill's Centre Stage Company for some festive family fun and frolics tomorrow and Saturday. Some of the ticket price will be donated to Comic Relief – so you can have a laugh and donate to charity at the same time.

■ On Monday, November 28, New York blues legend Guy Davis and Georgia-born roots and Americana singer songwriter Brooks Williams, two of the world's most acclaimed guitarists, come together for an evening of blues electric, acoustic, slide guitar and singing with Inside the Delta.

■ Do your Christmas shopping in town and get something a little bit different with the arts centre's Christmas Craft Fair on Friday, December 2 and Saturday, December 3. It ties in with Haverhill Town Council's Christmas lights switch-on (with Sue Hodge from Allo Allo, 6.30pm on the Market Square) late night shopping (High Street and Queen Street) and the firework display (8pm on the Recreation Ground) on the Friday.

■ There are more seasonal treats in store with the Haverhill Silver Band's Christmas Concert, a light-hearted show with a variety of music, carols, quizzes and games. Bells are a jingle on Sunday, December 4, at 4pm.

■ The arts centre has the film version of the literary hit, The Girl on the Train (15) on Tuesday, November 29. Starring Emily Blunt and based on the novel by Paula Hawkins, it is the story of a woman who day-dreams about a perfect couple living in one of the perfect homes that she sees every day from the train. But one day, as she looks through the window, she sees something shocking happen inside the house and a mystery unfolds, as they so often do, and things are perfect no more.

■ Tom Hanks reprises his role as Harvard symbologist Robert Langdon in Inferno (12) on Wednesday, November 30 and again on Monday, December 5. Adapted from Dan Brown's best-selling book Langdon, who must be quite the expert by now, finds himself embroiled in another potential disaster with global consequences. With all the practise he's had saving the world in The Da Vinci Code and Angels and Demons, it is sure to be a cinch.

■ 50 years after he directed Cathy Come Home, Ken Loach turns his attention to the British welfare system in I, Daniel Blake showing on Thursday, December 1. Daniel has worked as a joiner most of his life in Newcastle. Now, for the first time ever, he needs help from the State and crosses paths with Katie and her two young children.

■ Don't miss the arts centre's last film before Christmas, Queen of Katwe on Thursday, December 6. It is the true story of a young girl selling corn on the streets of rural Uganda whose world rapidly changes when she is introduced to chess.

■ Friday, November 25, 7.30pm, Saturday, November 26, 2.30pm and 7.30pm The Vicar of Dibley – The Second Coming

■ Monday, November 28, 7.30pm Inside the Delta

■ Tuesday, November 29, 7.30pm The Girl on the Train (15)

■ Wednesday, November 30, 7.30pm, Monday, December 5, 1.30pm Inferno (12A)

■ Thursday, December 1, 7.30pm I, Daniel Blake (15)

■ Friday, December 2, 5pm – 8pm, Saturday, December 3, 9.30am – 3.30pm, Christmas Craft and Gift Fair

■ Saturday, December 3, 8pm–1.30am Party Night with Funk Odyssey – sold out

■ Sunday, December 4, 4pm Haverhill Silver Band Christmas Concert

CLAY MITT: Washable too

New clay mitt better than clay bar original

CAR CARE bigwigs Code Clean are delighted to announce the release of their Luxury Clay Mitt, a revolutionary prep mitten that replaces the traditional clay bar and 'claying' process.

Capable of removing ingrained dirt, bugs, tar spots and dulling pollutants from paintwork, windscreens and even the headlights, the Luxury Clay Mitt is designed to clay more than 30 cars and will last for years. As an alternative to a traditional clay bar, you get a re-useable package that cuts costs, time and the skill level required to achieve perfection.

Code Clean's Luxury Clay Mitt has a lush, deep-pile micro fibre coating on one side and an advanced polymer rubber layer bonded to the other.

The Code Clean Luxury Clay Mitt is also washable. It costs £30; the lubricant costs £6.94. More at codeclean.co.uk.

Whiplash fraud is targeted for justice

THE AA has welcomed the change of heart by the Ministry of Justice in setting new plans for further reforms to bring down the number of fraudulent whiplash injury claims, that add at least £40 to the cost of every car insurance policy bought.

The Ministry of Justice yesterday announced a consultation on proposals which, following the change of Government leadership, appeared to have been shelved.

This is at a time when the average car insurance premium quote, according to the AA's benchmark British Insurance Premium Index, has risen by more than £80 over the past 12 months.

Michael Lloyd, the AA's director of insurance comments: "AA members are rightly concerned about the upward pressure on the cost of running a car, not least the rising cost of insurance."

"That there over 800,000 small injury claims registered through the Ministry of Justice small claims track last year, of which 750,000 are estimated to be whiplash injury claims which is, frankly, shocking. It's little

NOT NICE: Trouble is real whiplash incidents now take longer to process wonder that the UK is shamefully regarded as the whiplash capital of the world.

"We would particularly welcome capping of compensation for minor injury to £425, paid only on medical proof of injury; banning offers to settle without medical evidence and a more transparent tariff of compensation for more serious injury."

"We would also like to see the banning of injury compensation altogether for very minor collisions and payment of compensation mostly in the form of care, such as physiotherapy, rather than all in cash."

Lloyd said that he and others in the insurance industry, expressed dismay when early in October, the Government announced that it was shelving the reforms proposed by the then Chancellor, George Osborne, in his Autumn Statement last year.

Last year, the AA conducted a Populus poll of over 20,000 AA members showing that 63 per cent of drivers had been cold-called by firms trying to persuade them to make an injury claim even if they had not been injured.

Commenting on Government plans to crack down on whiplash claims, Kevin Pratt, consumer affairs expert at MoneySuperMarket, said: "Fraudulent whiplash claims – ones that are either exaggerated or completely fabricated – are a scourge, adding £40-£50 to honest motorists' annual premiums."

Lister adds new Costin

IN ACTION: Costin at Revival 1915

LISTER Motor Company has announced the launch of its latest continuation car: the Lister Costin.

The last Lister racing car of the 1950s, the Costin holds a very special place in the history of the Cambridge company following on from the famous Knobbly. The latter was a very successful racer but Brian Lister realised that to increase performance he had to find a way to improve its aerodynamics.

So for the 1959 racing season he called on the skills of Frank Costin, brother of Mike Costin of Cosworth fame, an expert aerodynamicist who had designed bodies for Lotus and Vanwall. He created an all-new sleek, low-drag aluminum body – and the Lister Costin was born.

From the factory, the racing spec costs £295,000 + VAT – add £12,500 for a road option.

Jaguar opens new chapter with I-Pace all-electric SUV

JAGUAR has pulled the covers off its all new I-Pace Concept SUV, previewing what the company's first-ever electric vehicle will look like.

The I-Pace Concept is being pitted as an electric performance SUV, combining the silhouette of a supercar, the driving characteristics of a sports car and the practicality of a five-seat SUV.

Jaguar claims that the all-electric SUV is capable of travelling more than 310 miles on a single charge (according to the EU NEDC charge cycle), meaning customers should only need to charge the vehicle once a week – considering the average daily commute is between 24-31 miles.

Because of this superior range, Jaguar is confident the production version of the I-Pace will be able to be used as a primary car, rather than in conjunction with a traditional petrol or diesel-powered vehicle.

Electric motors at the front and rear axles give the I-Pace Concept a combined power output of 395bhp and 700Nm of torque, allowing it to accelerate 0-60mph in around four seconds.

Ian Callum, Jaguar's director of design, said: "This will be Jaguar's first-ever battery-powered electric vehicle and opens a new chapter in the history of our legendary brand."

THE JAGUAR I-PACE CONCEPT: Due in 2018

ROAD TRIP: One of world's best in Aston Martin's 'Art of Living'

Enjoy Aston Martin's Art of Living in 2017

ASTON Martin has revealed a portfolio of experiences to be offered in 2017 by the British luxury brand's Art of Living by Aston Martin programme, which takes customers beyond sports cars and provides them with the opportunity to live the brand's lifestyle.

Headlining the collection of experiences are two new Ultimate Drives, one taking in South Africa, Monaco, Austria, Lake Como and Vienna, and including challenging drives and helicopter rides, gourmet dining and undiscovered city sightseeing, the other taking in the 24 Hours of Le Mans, Goodwood Festival of Speed, and an experience with our Innovation Partners, Red Bull Racing at their home race in Austria.

How can driverless cars make ethical decisions?

THE majority of people in the UK have reservations about new driving concepts such as driverless and electric cars, but believe the popularity of such technologies will surge in the future, according to a new survey carried out by Northern Connectors.

The survey revealed that almost two-thirds (65 per cent) of respondents cited safety issues – such as the driver not being in full control of their vehicle – as a main disadvantage of driverless cars. Almost half (49 per cent) are worried that machines would struggle with the ethical decisions that present themselves on the road and 50 per cent agreed there would be uncertainty over who would be held responsible in the event of a crash.

Almost 850 people took part in the survey and just under two-thirds (64 per cent) said they would currently rather own a manual than a driverless car, with many citing the joy of driving and the control and freedom it affords them, while others claimed they do not trust technology and believe manual driving to be safer.

DRIVERLESS: Decisions decisions

Scott Jones, general manager at Northern Connectors, a specialist distributor of industrial connectors and components to the car manufacturing sector, said: "Our findings show that while significant strides are being made to bring both driverless and electric cars to the wider market, many people are fearful about the unknown.

"Can a driverless car decide whether to swerve to avoid a collision if it meant hitting another car? Who will be held responsible if a driverless car causes a crash? How long will it take to recharge an electric battery? Could it run out halfway through a journey? These are all valid questions for which people will want answers before they are able to place their trust in the new technologies. Once these fears are allayed, however, it seems the new vehicles will be much more widely embraced."

Practical issues were also deemed a concern: more than three-quarters (77 per cent) pointed to difficulties with recharging, two-thirds (66 per cent) cited long recharging times, the same percentage raised fears about running out of electricity mid-journey and more than one-third (34 per cent) said they would worry about battery replacement issues.

Just under half (45 per cent) of those questioned said they would currently rather own a petrol-powered car, compared to 26 per cent who would prefer an electric car and 29 per cent who don't know.

Despite these reservations, most respondents expect use of both driverless and electric cars to increase in the future. It was shown that more than two-thirds (67 per cent) believe driverless cars will be either quite popular or very popular in the years ahead, while 73 per cent think electric cars will either be quite or very popular. Reduced driver fatigue (55 per cent) and a reduction in drink or drug driving accidents (52 per cent) were shown as the main advantages of driverless cars, while the main advantages of electric cars are that they are more environmentally-friendly (79 per cent) and there is no need for petrol (68 per cent).

Beauty in Mégane estate

RENAULT will complete the renewal of its revised family car line-up with the arrival of the all-new Mégane Sport Tourer in UK dealerships next month.

Based on the fourth generation Mégane which launched in the UK earlier this year, the load-lugging estate version will be priced from £18,550 to £27,450 and is available in no fewer than 25 variants with a choice of six trim levels, four engines and manual and auto transmissions.

The Sport Tourer's big attraction will be its 521-litre boot which expands to 1,504-litres with the rear seats down.

At launch there's a choice of four engines on offer – 1.2 and 1.6-litre turbocharged petrol and 1.5 and 1.6-litre turbodiesel alternatives.

The basic Expression+ model includes LED daytime running lamps, 16-inch alloy wheels, tinted windows, all-round electric windows, leather steering wheel, Bluetooth connectivity and 4 x 20W DAB radio with fingertip controls.

Next year, a 1.5 litre diesel with Hybrid, electric assistance, are due.

LOAD-LUGGER: But Renault Mégane Sports Tourer is also an object of beauty

TAKE CARE: And be alert at all times

30-minute max for newborns in car seat

NEWBORN babies could be at risk of suffocation if they spend more than 30 minutes in a car seat, research has suggested.

A recent study conducted by researchers from Great Western Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust in Swindon, the University of Southampton and the University of Bristol found that putting babies in an upright position could lead to breathing difficulties.

Of the 40 newborn babies used in the study, researchers observed that a number of them experienced a dangerous drop in their blood oxygen levels, with some falling below 85 per cent saturation. This is far lower than the normal level in the high 90s.

"Parents should not stop using car safety seats to transport their infants," say the authors.

How to improve a car's performance by 70%

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking recently analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at more than 500 econometric models, covering a five-year period and, as the table here shows, they found that adding newspapers dramatically increases the effectiveness of other media.

In the automotive sector they reviewed companies that ranged from the big spending German giants of the industry to medium sized independent carmakers.

And they discovered that by adding newspaper advertising to their campaigns, they cranked up their effectiveness by over 70%.

Increased effectiveness using newspapers

WIN A FAMILY SKATING TICKET

Get your skates on this winter! Plus members have the chance win a Family Skate Ticket for either one adult & three children or two adults & two children.

Set in the heart of vibrant Cambridge throughout the festive season, you can skate in style at one of the most stunning open-air ice rinks the UK has to offer in this quintessential English city and the only outdoor ice rink in miles.

After you have taken to the 600m rink, take a spin on the traditional funfair and enjoy the multitude of rides & games on offer, then sample delicious food.

To explore the North Pole Cambridge, head to www.thenorthpolecambridge.co.uk

Competition closes: 23:59pm on Sunday 1 January 2017

Standard Trinity Mirror rules apply: visit the House Rules section on PLUS for details. Entrants must be aged 18 or over. Two winners will receive a family ticket (made up of 4 tickets of either 1 adult & 3 children or 2 adults & 2 children) to the North Pole, Parker's Piece, Parkside, Cambridge, CB2 1AA. Travel is not included. Prize is as stated and no alternative will be offered. Winners may be asked to participate in in-paper and online publicity. Identification will be required to claim. Images are for illustrative purpose only. The prize is provided by Arena ICE. Closing date to enter is 23:59pm on Sunday 1 January 2016.

HOW TO ENTERplus+ members

Senior Project Engineer (Electrical)

Estate Management • £34,956-£46,924

An opportunity has arisen for an experienced Electrical Engineer to work with the team responsible for delivering world class environments for teaching, learning, research, and living; to attract, support and retain the brightest students and staff at the University of Cambridge. This is being realised through the University's capital projects programme, currently at circa £200m pa.

Within this new role, the successful candidate will collaborate with and support building occupiers, project teams, maintenance staff and contractors to ensure the delivery of high quality assets. Contributing to project processes from conception to completion, handover, operation and maintenance, there will be a need to build good working relationships with colleagues within Estate Management, University Schools, Faculties and Departments, external consultants and contractors.

The successful candidate will have excellent technical knowledge of complicated electrical services in highly serviced laboratory and research buildings. The candidate will thrive on working collaboratively in seeking opportunities to deliver high quality assets that perform as intended, and hold a degree or equivalent in electrical or building engineering and chartered membership of a relevant institution.

This is an excellent opportunity to work within the team delivering high quality, state of the art building assets for a world class institution.

The University of Cambridge is committed to contributing to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence.

Westcott winner for Borough at Beccles

PLAYER-manager Martin Westcott netted the winner as Haverhill Borough ran out 5-4 winners after extra time at Beccles in the third round of the Suffolk Senior Cup.

Ryan Swallow connected with Ryan Phillips' pass to put Borough in front early on, but they found themselves 3-1 down to the Anglian Combination leaders by half time, their goals coming from Callum Grimmer, Kevin Waterman and Liam Harvey-Cooper.

Swallow and Phillips both went close before Charlie Holmes nabbed two goals to get the visitors back on terms.

Borough keeper Graham Smith pulled off a great save from David Shades to keep it at 3-3 and send the game into extra time.

Joe Clark put Beccles back in front in the first minute of extra time, but Phillips headed home to level and Westcott settle matters seven minutes from time.

Two goals in three minutes helped

Football

Haverhill Rovers clinch a 2-2 draw at home to Clacton in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Kalom Harms put the visitors ahead on 14 minutes after Rovers keeper Charlie Turner had made an initial save from Jamie Beecham.

Wayne Blackman doubled Clacton's lead five minutes later by firing into the far bottom corner with his shot from the right.

Rory Jebb headed against the bar for the hosts just before the break and they were given hope when Clacton's Matt Stace was sent off after clashing with team-mate Harms midway through the second half.

Billy Bush pulled one back for Rovers from Oliver Stevenson's cross on 75 minutes and Luke Haines levelled two minutes later after Bush had hit the post.
